The University of Maryland's Consortium on Race, Gender and Ethnicity would like to announce the second annual: Intersectional Qualitative Research Methods Institute 2016 - DEADLINE EXTENDED TO MARCH 28

Institute's Goals:
- Provide practical experience to enhance qualitative research skills
- Inform on critical intersectional perspectives for designing and interpreting research
- Create networks of intersectional scholars

General Information:
- June 5-10, 2016
- Registration Fee: $1500 (includes breakfast, lunch and lodging)
- Applications: January 15 - March 28, 2016

Learning Objectives:
- Learn and apply rigorous qualitative intersectional methods
- Develop and hone critical navigation skills to progress through promotion and tenure processes
- Develop and hone writing skills and scholarly practices

APPLY HERE
http://www.crge.umd.edu/IQRMI/

Applicant Criteria:
- Working on an intersectional qualitative research project
- Identify as a racial/ethnic underrepresented minority
- Be an early career scholar