QRCA Accepting 2020 Global Outreach Scholarship Applications

St. Paul, Minn. (June 7, 2019) -- The Qualitative Research Consultants Association (QRCA) has begun accepting applications for its Global Outreach Scholarships for 2020.

The scholarship program, which began in 2008, is an effort to involve more international qualitative researchers in opportunities to learn and grow outside their home regions. Each year, the QRCA Global Outreach Scholarship offers one international qualitative researcher (from outside the USA, UK or Canada) the opportunity to gain first-hand experience within QRCA's unique culture of learning and sharing. This facilitates continuing personal and professional development.

"QRCA recognizes it's not always a level playing field out there," said Corette Haf, co-chair of the QRCA International Committee. "International qualitative researchers may not have the opportunities within their own countries for professional and personal development they'd ideally like to have. This scholarship program provides an opportunity to level that playing field for a talented researcher who wants to learn and grow."

The 2020 Scholarship will provide the recipient with:

1. Free conference registration (valued at up to US $1,495) to attend the QRCA Annual Conference in Austin, TX from January 29-31, 2020
2. Travel and accommodation expenses associated with attending the conference, up to a total of US $1,000.
3. Free membership of QRCA for the remainder of the 2020 membership year.

Past scholarship recipients have included researchers from Brazil, New Zealand, Belgium, the Czech Republic, Australia, South Africa, Mexico, Argentina, Honduras, India, Kenya and Romania.
