

Thanks to all for their patience while we beavered away on the construction of our sites. It's an exciting slate!

- Abstract Submission Portal open now <https://icsevents.eventsair.com/tq-2021/abstract-submission>
- For more information on the conference, click <https://tq-2021.ok.ubc.ca>
- Abstracts are due on or before April 15, 2021 at 23:59 Pacific Daylight Time.
- Early Bird deadline for registrations is June 4, 2021 at 23:59 Pacific Daylight Time

Thanks to our international organizing committee, the conference will include keynotes, workshops, concurrent sessions and poster by researchers worldwide, vetted and presented regionally by date. The conference will run live in different regions each day during normal working hours for that region.

Researchers across the world will be vetted by reviewers local to their region, to present in their region, but can also attend presentations internationally.

North America, July 5, 2021- Keynotes: David Morgan and Luca Berardi

Latin America, July 5, 2021 - includes 3 levels of ATLAS.ti workshops

Scandinavia, July 6, 2021 - Keynote: Marit Kirkevold

UK and Ireland, July 6 - Keynote: Cecelia Vindrola

Continental Europe, July 7, 2021 - tbd

Africa and Middle East, July 7, 2021 - Workshops include: Linda Liebenberg and Brigitte Smit

Australia, New Zealand, Asia, July 8, 2021 - Keynote: Victoria Palmer

Software Training, July 9, 2021 - ATLAS.ti in Spanish or English, NVivo for PC or Mac

Rates to attend will be based on current World Bank definitions for high, high middle, low-middle, and low-income countries.

Please check the IIQM site <https://www.ualberta.ca/international-institute-for-qualitative-methodology/conferences-workshops-and-events/index.html> and UBCO TQ site <https://tq-2021.ok.ubc.ca> regularly for updates or sign up for our TQ2021 list serve on the UBCO TQ2021 Information page.

Contacts:

Conference Chair Karin Olson at karin.olson@ubc.ca

TQ2021 Event Coordinator Julianna Barabas at julianna.barabas@ubc.ca

Abstract submission questions: TQ2021-program@icsevents.com